

Statement on Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

As a local initiative that strives to build a world where people unite and take action to create lasting change, Kelly Center for Hunger Relief values diversity and celebrates the contributions of people of all backgrounds, regardless of their age, ethnicity, race, color, abilities, religion, socioeconomic status, culture, sex, sexual orientation, and gender identity.

Kelly Center for Hunger Relief will cultivate a diverse, equitable, and inclusive culture in which people from underrepresented groups have greater opportunities to participate as members and leaders.
